A BRIEF HISTORY OF GREENWELL POINT BOWLING AND SPORTS CLUB

Its inaugural meeting was held in the lounge of the Greenwell Point Hotel on 2nd October, 1970, when it was decided a club was needed. A second meeting was held in the R.S.L. Hall on 3rd December 1970, when it was decided to form a club called the Greenwell Point Sports Club, and members were asked to take up debentures to raise the necessary money.

The first President was Mr. Don Burnett. Articles of Association were drawn up in August 1971.

A bowling green was commenced in 1971 and was built with mainly voluntary labour.

On legal advice, prior to applying for a liquor licence, Articles of Association were amended and the clubs name changed to the Greenwell Point Bowling and Sports Club limited.

After two court appearances, a liquor licence was granted on 30 August 1974. A number of sites were inspected for building the clubhouse, and four acres of absolute river frontage were decided on. The block fronted the Crookhaven River, opposite Goodnight Island, a shed was erected on the site and was used until the present building was erected.

A competition was held among the local school children to design an emblem for the club badge. The winning entry was from Kirsty Rankin of Bomaderry, and it showed a bowling ball surrounded by a marlin.

The Greenwell Point Women's Bowling Club was formed in September 1971. with 20 members. They held a meeting on 25 February 1973, with 29 Foundation Members. Office Bearers were elected and the first President was Mrs Mary Seddon

The Greenwell Point Amateur Fishing Club was formed in September 1971, with 20 members. The first President was D Burnett, and weigh-ins were held monthly at Mary Elizabeth Park, which is now the Anglers Rest Caravan Park.

FISHING NEWS

Who doesn't like winter? Well I'm pretty sure that all of us at some stage have had dreams about summer, and the warmth that comes along with it. Although there's only around 14 weeks to go, it should all start warming up hopefully. In the meantime, the fishing in places over the past week has been pretty good.

The basin as always is going to fish well, and more than likely than not, if we the amateurs keep on looking after it, it will stay fishing the way it has for some time to come. Bream, flathead, whiting, snapper, tarwhine, and tailor all are still on the bite, with blades working a treat at the moment. Some of the whiting at the moment are massive, so, with fingers crossed, summertime will see some unreal flats fishing with poppers.

In the bay, there have been some nice reds around early in the morning, but it too is feeling the effect of winter, with things a little slow, although the squid fishing has hotted up with these tasty little numbers.

Now a good mate and famous local chef/fishing writer Wes Murphy has, I would probably think one of the best recipes for squid which he has kindly given to me.

It's simple but a very tasty way to prepare squid. With only three basic ingredients it will make any fisho look good in the kitchen. There are hundreds of old wives' tales about how to prepare squid - soaking the tubes in milk over night, marinating it with kiwi fruit - but the real secret is in the cooking time. I find that 30 seconds is ample. An important tip is not to overfill your deep fryer with squid. Too much squid in the fryer cools the oil and they don't cook properly.

Preparation & cooking

After cleaning the squid, I run the knife down the inside of the tube to open it up flat. I then score the tube in a criss cross manner, holding the knife at a 45 degree angle so the pattern looks good. This criss-cross cutting will also help reduce the cooking time. Cut the squid into pieces about as long as your finger and 5cm wide. Pre-heat the fryer to 200 degrees C. If you don't have a deep fryer, use a wok or deep saucepan. If you don't have a temperature gauge handy, you can check the correct temp by dropping a small piece of bread or squid in the oil - if it immediately fizzes and rises to the top the oil is hot enough for cooking

Prepare the flour for the squid by adding the Cajun and Moroccan spices to the plain flour and mix well.

If you like your squid nice and hot you can also add cayenne pepper but be warned, it's very hot!

To mix the flour and squid, I use a good plastic container which holds about 2-3 litres. Make sure your container has a good seal, so you don't wear half the flour when you're coating the squid. Place the squid into flour mix, seal the container and shake well.

Before putting the squid into the fryer basket, make sure you shake off the excess flour - if you leave too much flour on the squid it ends up being all soggy. As a rule, I don't put more than the equivalent of two tubes in at once; if you put too much in the fryer, you lose the heat and your squid goes chewy. As mentioned before, 30 seconds cooking time is ample. If you let it go too long, you get tough and chewy squid.

After cooking, make sure you drain the excess oil off the squid. I like to serve mine on a bed of wild rocket with a drizzle of balsamic reduction or sweet soy sauceSCOTTY....

GALLERY IN JULY

This month in our gallery we are exhibiting for the first time works by Julia Phelps and Barbara Farnham. They are both well known Shoalhaven painters. Barbara enjoys depicting local scenes in watercolour, and you may have seen her painting and sketching around Greenwell Point. Most of the paintings in the exhibition are done in watercolour and ink, and her subjects include the wharf in the mist, early morning fishermen and walking the dog around the waterfront.

Julia has painted the Shoalhaven river and aspects of the bush around her home in Bangalee. She works in oils, watercolour and acrylic. The exhibition is well worth a visit

If you have been walking past our windows, you may have noticed that we have a whole new look. Wendy Vaughan put her training in design to work, and with the help of Ron and daughter Belinda, have come up with a whole new layout and display:

We are lucky to have such talent in our community . While on the subject of talent did you see our members display of "Warm and. Woolly" in June? Congratulations to all who participated. We have some exciting exhibitions in store in the next few months. On the 5th July we had a visit from the "Living On The Coast" team and Greenwell Point gallery was featured on their program which is viewed on TVS 31. This was suggested to us by a Sydney couple, who were so impressed by our gallery that they thought that more city people should know about it. If you see a steady stream of traffic coming down the highway in the next few weeks, you will know where they are going.

In October we are holding a workshop for knitters. It will be run by Jude Skeers, and he will be teaching his special techniques, which enable very creative garments to be produced . We are opening this to all Greenwell Point residents, so if you are interested, pop into the gallery or give Marion a ring on 44471528. Places are limited to 12.

The big excitement for August is

OUR FIRST BIRTHDAY!!!!!!!

Who said we wouldn't make it? We are celebrating on Saturday 8th August from 4.30 till 6.30.

Everyone is welcome to join us for the occasion. A gold coin donation will be appreciated.

Remember we have an excellent range of handmade cards for all occasions including some beautiful photographs of Greenwell Point just right for sending to people not fortunate enough to live in our wonderful area.

The AGM of the Greenwell Point Memorial Community Hall will be held on Friday September 4th 2009 at 9.30am, to elect the Management Committee and decide on Management plans for 2009-2010.

Greenwell Point and Pyree residents are invited to attend and stand for membership of the Committee

Thank you to the leaders, Fleur Muffett, Kath Cain, Rod Foyel and Scout Leader come Cub leader for the weekend, Victor Scullin. Our wonderful parents who stayed the whole weekend, Peter Duryea, Shannon and Bret Chittick, Michelle and Graham Rowe, Sharon Porter, David Scofields Peter Quinn plus a yummy, yummy thank you to Troy and Toni Barbouttis who made a special trip in just to cook the dinner, consisting of legs of lamb and lots of vegies We don't rough it on camps, There were lots of games portraying' the story of the Jungle book, which the Cubs really relished. Well done leaders and parents, without your support and dedication, this camp could not have been the success it was.

Our lets Party, jungle book style bring a friend night, was another great night with a possible 6 new chums starting this term.

Cubs have been working very hard on their badges, collectors being the main one earned this term, close up pets and sports is up and coming.

Many exciting things are planned next term, our camp for the term is possibly to Nowra Animal Park, a district camp at Lake Toubourie, plus lots of mysterious things still to come.

So if you are 7 112 — 10 112 girl or boy and wish to join for more information just ring Julie Brown on 444711693 or just come along on Thursday night at 6:30pm in the Scout Hall, 115 Greens Road..

Trivia

A Blondè goes to buy curtains. She tells the shop assistant, "I would like to buy a pair of pink curtains." The assistant assures her that they have a large selection of pink curtains. She shows her several patterns but the blonde seems to be having a hard time choosing. Finally she selects a lovely pink floral print. The assistant then asks what size curtains she needs. The blonde promptly replies, "Seventeen inches." "Seventeen inches?" asked the assistant. "That sounds very small. What room are they for?" The blonde says; "They aren't for a room, they're for my new computer monitor." The surprised assistant replies, "But Miss, computers do not need curtains!" The blonde says, "Hellloooo...I've got Windows"
